Mrs. Leland, past middle age, and with iron-gray hair and a severe cast of returners sat between her lawyers, W. F. Howe and Joseph Moss, clad in a rich gown of black and heavy mink wraps.

The complaining witness, also past middle age, but blonde and more juvenile in appearance, and equally well dressed, sat in the "box" and glared at Mrs. Leland.

Both women are now keeping frashioneble boarding-houses, the one at 35 West Thirty-fourth street, and the other at the first named address. They are rivals in business. Assistant District-Attorney Osborn sought to prove by Lawyer Hoyt the writing of a lefter as attorney of Miss Dalley to Mrs. Leland, but it was dissilowed as a privileged communication. Then Miss Dalley was recalled to the stand.
